At the Admiral Benbow Inn

Captain lived in Mr. Hawkins' inn. Everybody was afraid of him. He was also afraid. He was afraid of pirates.

One day a man called Black Dog came to the inn. He looked scary.

"Where is Captain?" he asked Jim. Jim was Mr. Hawkins's son.

"He went for a walk," Jim answered.

"Ok, I'll wait for him." Black Dog sat at the table.

V hostinci U admirála Benbowa

Kapitán bydlel v hostinci pana Hawkinse. Všichni se ho báli. On se také bál. Bál se pirátů.

Jednoho dne přišel do hostince muž jménem Černý pes. Vypadal strašidelně.

„Kde je Kapitán?“ zeptal se Jima. Jim byl syn pana Hawkinse.

„Šel na procházku,“ odpověděl Jim.

„Dobře, počkám na něj.“ Černý pes se posadil ke stolu.

Captain walked into the inn. He started to fight with Black Dog. Black Dog ran away. Then Captain fell on the floor. Luckily, Doctor Livesey came to the inn. He helped Captain.

“You had a stroke. You mustn’t drink rum or you’ll die.” Doctor Livesey said.

The next day a blind man came to the inn. He gave Captain something and ran away.

“It’s a black spot!” said Captain and he fell on the floor again. He was dead.

Jim and his mother did not want to be in the inn with the dead Captain. But Captain did not pay for his room and food and Jim’s mother wanted her money. They went to Captain’s room. They found some money, but it was not enough.
